Robert Frosch announced as second finalist for engineering dean

March 8, 2019 – Robert Frosch from Purdue University is the second finalist for the next James L. and Katherine S. Melsa Dean of Engineering at Iowa State University. He will visit campus March 10-12.

Frosch, professor of civil engineering and senior associate dean of facilities and operations in Purdue’s College of Engineering, will meet with students, faculty, staff, and external stakeholders during his visit. He will also hold an open forum Monday, March 11, from 2-3 p.m., at the Alliant Energy-Lee Liu Auditorium in Howe Hall.

Frosch holds a bachelor’s degree in civil engineering from Tulane University, and master and Ph.D. degrees in civil engineering from the University of Texas at Austin. He joined Purdue in 1997 after working as a structural engineer with Modjeski and Masters Consulting Engineers and serving as an adjunct assistant professor at Tulane.

More information on Frosch, and on the search, is available at: https://www.provost.iastate.edu/administrator-resources/recruitment/searches/dean--college-of-engineering

###