Faculty Workload and Rewards: What Academic Leaders Can Do

March 6, 2024, 9:00am - 12:30pm, in-person.

Workshop Facilitator: Dawn Culpepper, Ph.D.

This is a Department Chair Workshop. Deans, Department Chairs (including Associate and Assistant Chairs), and School Directors are invited to attend.

Dr. Dawn Culpepper is a higher education researcher and practitioner focused on creating academic work environments where faculty members thrive.

Her nationally recognized research examines an array of faculty work environment issues, including tenure and promotion, hiring, and workload. Her work has been published in top education and diversity-related journals and has been funded by the National Science Foundation.

Dawn is currently the Director for the University of Maryland ADVANCE Program for Inclusive Excellence, where she leverages her research experience to develop programs and provide expertise on campus policy and practice.

Pre-workshop Reading:
Equity-minded Faculty Workloads

This workshop will reflect upon the question:

What is your current department/school workload policy or approach (formal or informal)?
